WEARY SOLDIERS REST AFTER GREAT BATTLE

Russian Army to Get More Reinforcements At Once.

Japanese Also to Send a Second Army---Baltic Fleet Making Good Progress.

THE BIGGEST BATTLE OF THE WAR IS OVER NOW

MORE REINFORCEMENTS.

Berlin, Oct. 20.—The Mukden correspondent of the Tageblatt wires that Gen. Kuropatkin will be reinforced within three weeks by a complete army corps consisting of five divisions of light infantry and many batteries of quick firing guns. The Japanese, he says, are doomed, unless they defeat the Russians in a decisive fashion before the arrival of fresh troops.

A dispatch from Tokio states that ninety transports left Sasebo, Japan, yesterday with seventy-four thousand men, two hundred guns, ammunition and clothing, bound for Manchuria. The second army, the correspondent adds, will consist of four hundred thousand men and a thousand guns.

GEN. KUROKI REPORTED DYING

London, Oct. 20.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg states that there is a rumor current there that Gen. Kuroki, in command of the Japanese right at Shangkai river, is dying from dysentery. No confirmation is obtainable.

THE TOTAL NUMBER SLAIN.

Tokio, Oct. 20.—With the advent of heavy rains near the scene of hostilities in Manchuria, the opposing armies of Oyama and Kuropatkin are devoting their time to burying the dead, and caring for the wounded, and are planning additional movements. It is now known that the Japanese left army lost five thousand during the recent battle. The further discovery of Russian bodies added materially to the total losses of Gen. Kuropatkin's forces, which are placed by conservative estimates at twenty-five thousand men.

RUSSIAN MAPS FOUND.

Fusan, Oct. 20.—Maps captured by the Japanese show the Russians had arranged for a series of retreats and these maps indicated where stands were to be made. This accounts for the slowness of the advance of the Japanese and the failure to cut off the Russian retreat, which was conducted with great skill. Ravines and gullies met with by the Japanese obstructed their advance. Cavalry on the left crossed the Hun river and prevented the Russian flanking movement.

REGIMENT WIPED OUT.

London, Oct. 20.—A special dispatch from St. Petersburg makes mention of the crushing defeat of two Japanese divisions. There is no confirmation, however, in any reliable quarter of such a report.

According to the Standard correspondent with Kuroki under date of Oct. 18, a Russian battalion which crossed the Taitse river has been almost annihilated. While retreating over a pontoon bridge the correspondent says, the battalion was overtaken by a regiment of Japanese cavalry, which got its machine guns into position and swept the bridge from end to end.

RED CROSS AID.

Berlin, Oct. 20.—As a result of the visit here of the delegates of the Russian Red Cross central committee the German Red Cross society has decided to send further assistance to the seat of war and will erect a German hospital at Irkutsk, Siberia.

Negotiations are in progress regarding a similar offer to the Japanese. The German central committee in a circular on the subject expresses the opinion that in view of the sanguinary character of the war waged and the fearful obstinacy being displayed, action on a large scale by neutral Red Cross societies with the object of relieving the greatly over-taxed ambulance service of the belligerents will appeal to the world-wide feeling of humanity.

THE BIG BATTLE ENDS.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 20.—For the moment heavy rains and impassable roads have compelled a suspension of operations in Manchuria. There was practically no fighting yesterday and none whatever last night. Kuropatkin is extending his right and the Japanese appear to be shifting weight to the westward.

Veiled hints continue to arrive that the Russians have recovered from the blow inflicted last week by Oyama and that Kuropatkin is preparing to renew the struggle as soon as the roads dry. Two telegrams from Mukden report that the Japanese are preparing to retire and the war office admits Kuropatkin's left has again moved slightly forward, but there is no light upon the movements of the Japanese. Practically last week's battle has ended and it goes into history as a Russian defeat. When operations are resumed a new battle will begin.

The movement of troops on the Russian western frontier and preparations to further reduce the garrisons in this region, revive talk of a complete understanding with Germany under which the frontier will be protected so as to permit of dispatch to Manchuria of troops stationed in Poland. There are about 600,000 soldiers in Poland, comprising some of the best troops in the empire. It is already known that practically all or three corps in the Vilna government will be included in General Gripenberg's army, but as these troops are included in what is known as the Russian third line of defense the fact has not attracted much attention. It is now developed that the rifle brigade at Plesk in the government of Tschernichovsk directly on the frontier, is mobilizing.

In best informed diplomatic circles it is believed nothing in the shape of a treaty between Russia and Germany has been committed to writing, but that there is simply a mutual understanding between the two sovereigns covering this point, and some believe, going much further, so far as the present war is concerned, there is no evidence that the supposed agreement covers active aid, as such an agreement would render operative the Anglo-Japanese alliance. It is thought, however, in diplomatic quarters, that there is something in the nature of a pledge on the part of the emperor of Germany to protect the Russian western frontier. It is now recalled as significant of a deep personal friendship of the two emperors that when Emperor William was about to undergo an operation last year he commended his eldest son to the hands of Emperor Nicholas. Then the fact was mentioned at the time in the official messenger, but it did not attract as much attention as it is now receiving.

COMPLETE COALING.

Copenhagen, Oct. 20.—The Russian Baltic fleet which yesterday left Chet belt, sailed north and anchored off Skav last night, where the ships completed coaling.

RAIN STILL INTERFERES.

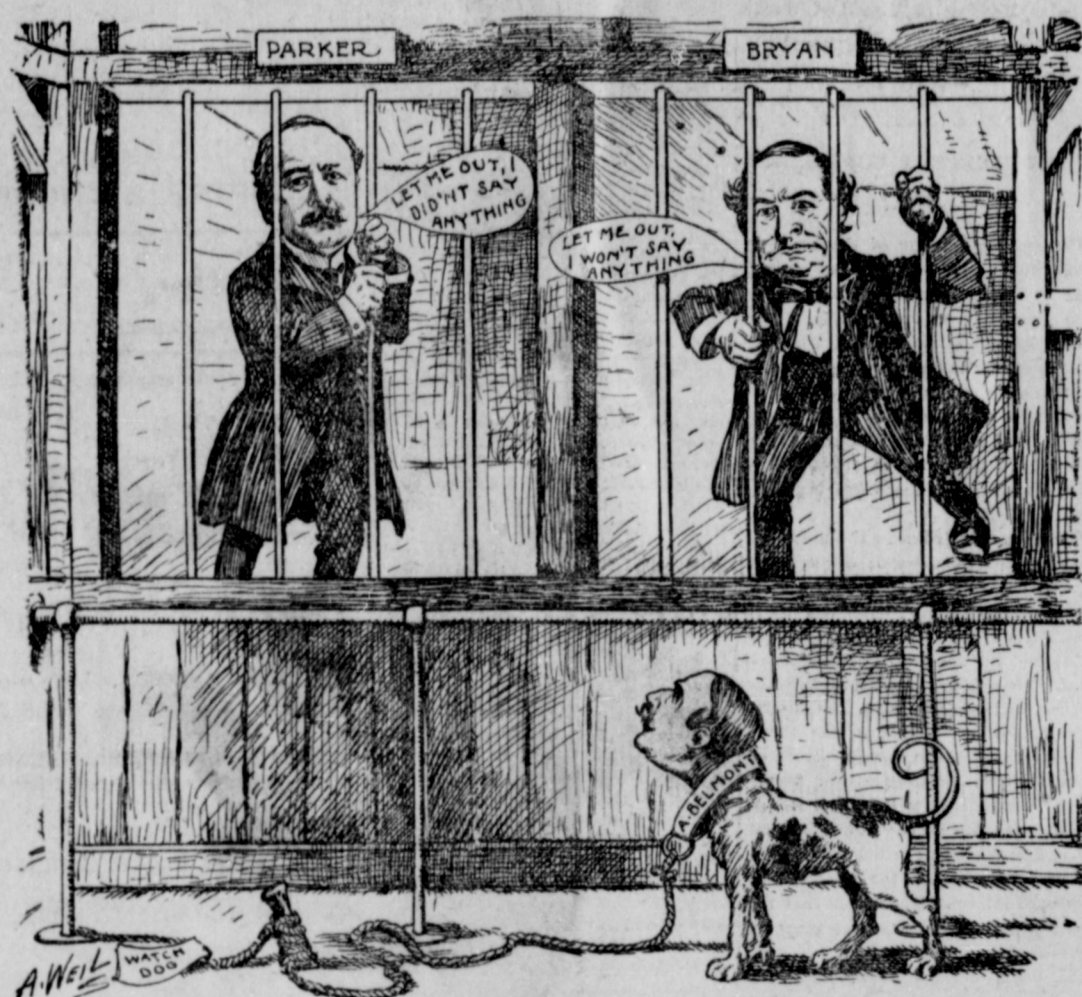

St. Petersburg, Oct. 20.—The rainfall continues to interrupt hostilities south of Mukden, but no official reports of engagements yesterday or today have been received. It is presumed both sides are waiting for the rain to cease and the river to recede somewhat and permit fording. The Russian soldiers wounded in the battle of Shakhe are being rapidly conveyed to Harbin, where there are ample accommodations for their care.

WILL ENTER MUKDEN.

Rome, Oct. 20.—A telegram from Tokio states that Field Marshal Oyama has advised the general staff that he expects to enter Mukden next week.

JAPS HAD TO SURRENDER.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 20.—A report is current here that the Russian vanguard on the west front Tuesday surrounded a battalion of Japanese infantry, which was forced to surrender. The department under Gen. Mitschenko is also said to have compelled two battalions of Japanese relief to surrender. The Japanese are reported slowly retiring.

DEMOCRATIC ZOO.

BALTIC FLEET ANCHORS.
Skagen, Denmark, Oct. 20.—The Baltic fleet has arrived here and anchored.

REPORT CONFIRMED.
Paris, Oct. 20.—According to a St. Petersburg correspondent the report of the defeat of two Japanese divisions at Shangkai river is confirmed.

JAPAN PROTESTS TO RUSSIA.
Washington, Oct. 20.—The state department today transmitted by telegraph to the American embassy at St. Petersburg for presentation to the foreign office the formal protest of the Japanese government against the alleged use by Russian soldiers in Manchuria of Chinese costumes. Such disguise is contrary to international law. This government acts in the matter merely as a medium of transmission.

A WILD RUMOR DISCREDITED.
London, Oct. 20.—Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister, utterly discredited the sensational report current last night and this morning that two Japanese divisions had sustained a crushing defeat at the hands of the Russians. The first rumor was that twelve thousand Japanese were taken prisoners.

COSSACKS ALL KILLED.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 20.—Gen. Sakaroff reports that no skirmishes took place yesterday. He gives an account of the disaster to a detachment of Cossacks Tuesday. The horses and all the Cossacks were killed or wounded by the Japanese machine guns. Sakaroff makes no mention of the reported disaster to two Japanese divisions, conveyed in unofficial dispatches this morning.

ATTENDING THE WOUNDED.

Rome, Oct. 20.—A telegram from Liao Yang states that accommodations for the wounded there are exhausted. The service of hospital trains has been organized to carry the Japanese wounded to New Chwang, where there are hospital ships in the harbor.

CHARITY CLUB CALLED.

The Charity club will meet on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the parlors of the Palmer House. All the members and the ministers of the city are urged to be present, and any one else interested in this good work is most cordially invited.

GENERAL RUGGLES DEAD.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—General George D. Ruggles, retired, for several years manager of the Soldiers' Home in this city, died here last evening.

BISHOP BALDWIN DEAD.

London, Ontario, Oct. 20.—The Right Rev. M. C. Baldwin, bishop of Huron, is dead, aged 68 years.

NEW YORK HERALD GIVES UP THE FIGHT

Says President Roosevelt Will be Elected.

The Erstwhile Supporter of Judge Parker Creates Consternation in the Party.

NO NECESSITY FOR A CHANGE

New York, Oct. 20.—Alton B. Parker came to New York this morning from Esopus and again grasped the reins of the democratic national campaign.

Coincident with his coming the New York Herald, hitherto a staunch Parker paper, gave up the present fight and predicted the re-election of President Roosevelt. The editorial, which created consternation at the democratic headquarters and was a source of alarm to the presidential candidate, read in part as follows:

"It seems almost a foregone conclusion that Mr. Roosevelt will be elected, not, perhaps, because the people have confidence in him and in his conception of the presidential functions, but because the country is prosperous, and thus the necessity for a change is not very pressing.

"Moreover, as election day draws nearer, it becomes manifest that democrats can oppose republican discipline and union with nothing more efficacious than disunion and indecision.

"One is tempted to ask whether Mr. Roosevelt's election may not prove a blessing in disguise. The president may regard his victory as an encouragement to flourish the 'big stick' more energetically than ever.

"The possible defeat of Judge Parker, moreover, may teach the democracy to appreciate the importance of resisting any future temptation to follow will-o'-the-wisp politicians, whether their name be Bryan, or what is the more usual, 'Dennis.'

MASS MEETING

REPUBLICANS ARE INVITED TO BE PRESENT TOMORROW NIGHT.

All Republicans are invited to attend a mass meeting at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night to nominate six candidates for the council and four for the board of aldermen.

OPENING GUNS ARE BEING FIRED TODAY

Fight Over Chain Gang Suits Has Begun.

A Demurrer to the Suits Is Being Argued Before Judge Reed.

CASE WILL BE APPEALED

The first skirmish over the damage suits filed against the city of Paducah by Attorney J. M. Worten for various persons for damages for working on the streets, is in progress this afternoon before Circuit Judge Reed in the council room at the city hall, where court is being held on account of the heating apparatus at the court house not working.

This preliminary battle is in the form of a demurrer to the suits, and as finally decided will determine the fate of the cases.

The history of these suits is well known. The city has been working prisoners on the street under the present charter, although it is claimed there is no authority for it.

A large number of damage suits have resulted, most of them for $10,000 each. Attorney Worten has filed all those thus far filed.

The city's demurrer being argued today was filed by Judge James Campbell, and is in substance that the city has a right to work prisoners on the street, and that even if the city has not the right, the city is not liable.

Arguments will be made by Attorneys Worten for the plaintiffs, and by Judge Campbell, whose firm was recently employed by the city at a cost of $1,000 to defend these suits, for the city.

The demurrer is a general one to all the suits, and if it is sustained the court will pick out some single case in deciding it, in order that an appeal may be taken.

No matter which way the case is decided in this court, the losing side will take it to the court of appeals, which decides it finally.

The significance of the argument today is great, as the city has at stake many thousands of dollars. Even if only nominal damages were awarded in each case, the attorneys and court costs alone would run up into the thousands.

It is not probable that Judge Reed will decide the demurrer today.

If the city loses it will appeal, and should the city then lose in the court of appeals, the cases will have to be regularly tried here on their merits.

THE GRAND LODGE NEARING A CLOSE

Biennial Move Dealt a Death Blow Today.

Officers Installed at Today's Session—Liquor Dealers Discussed.

SOME LIVELY DISCUSSIONS

Louisville, Oct. 20.—A resolution to refuse admittance to liquor dealers applying for membership in Masonic lodges was offered in the grand lodge today. The resolution provoked a heated discussion, but action was deferred for another year.

After routine business had been transacted, the grand lodge immediately took up the installation of officers elected during yesterday's session. The following officers were installed:

R. M. C. Rhea, Morganfield, Grand Master.

James Garnett, Jr., Columbia, deputy grand master.

Samuel K. Veech, Carlisle, grand senior warden.

H. P. Barrett, Henderson, grand junior warden.

Capt. H. P. Grant, grand secretary, and Capt. John H. Leathers, grand treasurer.

A motion to hold biennial instead of yearly meetings of the grand lodges was defeated, action being postponed by acclamation. The postponement is regarded as giving the biennial movement a death blow.

H. P. Barrett, of Henderson, was elected Grand Junior Warden of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Kentucky on the fifth ballot over Virgil Smith, of Somerset, in an interesting contest. The vote stood: Barrett, 274; Smith, 212.

The Grand Lodge then went into the election of a Grand Secretary and Grand Treasurer. Capt. H. B. Grant had no opposition for the office of Grand Secretary, nor did Capt. John H. Leathers for Grand Treasurer.

The election of officers of the Grand Lodge began shortly before noon, and the positions were filled in rotation down to Grand Junior Warden, for which there was a lively contest.

Grand Treasurer John H. Leathers reported the institution of the following lodges during the past year:

Elkfork Lodge, U. D., Elkfork, Morgan county, granted November 25, 1903. Set to work by Bro. C. W. Womack December 12, 1903.

Daylight Lodge, U. D., Louisville, granted January 11, 1904. Set to work January 6, 1904, by Grand Master O. D. Thomas.

Wilmore Lodge, U. D., Wilmore, Jessamine county, granted February 29, 1904. Set to work March 10, 1904, by Bro. B. M. Arnett.

Folsomdale, U. D., Folsomdale, Graves county, granted February 29, 1904. Set to work May 31, 1904, by P. G. M. John W. Landrum.

Water Valley, U. D., Water Valley, Graves county, granted April 9, 1904. Set to work April 23, 1904, by P. G. M. John W. Landrum.

Hebron, U. D., Hebron, Boone county, granted April 16, 1904. Set to work April 23, 1904, by P. G. M. Henry Bostwick.

Ludlow, U. D., Ludlow, Kenton county, granted June 20, 1904. Set to work June 29, 1904, by Bro. W. S. Gould.

Fannin Valley, U. D., Fannin Valley, Elliott county, granted July 12, 1904. Set to work July 16, 1904, by Bro. J. C. Wells.

Hickman, U. D., Hickman, Fulton county, granted July 13, 1904. Set to work July 22, 1904, by Bro. Joshua Naylor.

New Bryantsville, U. D., Bryantsville, Garrard county, granted October 10, 1904. Set to work by Bro. Louis Landrum.

BRIDAL COUPLE PASSES THROUGH

Today at noon Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Clark, of Memphis, passed through the city en route east and then to St. Louis on their bridal tour.

They were married this morning in Memphis, and the bride is well known here, being formerly Miss Carrie Hutchinson, who visited Miss Mamie O'Brien. They were met at the depot by Mr. John Donovan, Miss O'Brien and Mrs. Pat O'Brien. They remained in Paducah but a few minutes, the regular stop-over for the noon passenger train.

THE REPUBLICANS WILL NOMINATE

Tickets for Councilmen and Four Aldermen.

A Mass Meeting to Be Held at 7:30 P. M. at the City Hall Tomorrow.

PROSPECTS ARE ENCOURAGING

Chairman Frank Boyd, of the republican committee, today calls a mass meeting of republicans of Paducah, for tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the city hall, to nominate candidates for the council and board of aldermen.

No ticket for school trustee will probably be nominated by the republicans this year.

Under the second-class charter, Paducah will never again elect but half of each of the three boards—the council, aldermen and school board—at one time. Every year hereafter half of the boards will be chosen and this is the first since the charter went into effect.

Some republicans have asked "what's the use of electing half of the boards," but they forget, doubtless, that they can never elect more than half the boards under the present charter, and half the boards can stop the policies enforced by the present city administration, which so many tax-payers are kicking against.

The democrats held a mass convention several weeks ago and nominated their tickets. With two or three exceptions, they named the same men who are now in the council, board of aldermen and school board.

A prominent republican said today: "We intend to do all we can at the convention tomorrow, to nominate tickets for the council and aldermen that all decent people can vote for, no matter what their politics. We intend to nominate representative men who will try to get a little energy and intelligence into city affairs. We are tired of the jelly-fish policy."

"It is with great encouragement that the republicans will enter the contest this year. They feel that the people are tired of what has been dealt out to them from the city hall, and half a loaf is better than none, and if they can elect half the boards they can easily put a stop to many of the things to which the taxpayers object. They can count on enough help from the present boards who hold over, to do what is right and best for the people, and will have enough to prevent anything else should it be undertaken."

The republican gains in Paducah in the past few years are most gratifying and bear out the assertion that Paducah is becoming a republican city. It has long been known that many people vote the republican ticket who do not register republican. In the past two years the republican gain in registration has been over 800, while the democrats have lost. This year the democrats have a majority of 374 over the republicans, but their plurality is only 207. It is claimed by the republican committee that 175 of those registered as democrats are republicans, and if this be true, adding 175 to the republican registration and taking it from the democratic, the democrats have the advantage of only about 20 votes in Paducah.

A large number of democrats in Paducah never vote the democratic ticket at presidential elections, and a larger number than usual will probably not vote the democratic ticket this year. Many democrats are disgusted with the present city administration in Paducah, and the municipal ticket will be no inducement to them to vote the democratic ticket, hence Paducah is pretty apt to be safely republican this year.

TEXAS ARMY OFFICER WITNESSES DESPERATE DUEL WITH BOLOS

Austin, Tex., Oct. 19.—Colonel John A. Hulen, adjutant general of this state, has one of the largest collections of arms and instruments of battle of the various tribes of natives of the Philippine islands there probably is in this country. Colonel Hulen served two years in the Philippines as an officer in one of the regiments that was organized in Texas. He was a member of the Gilmore relief expedition.

"I was a witness to one of the most desperate and horrible duels that probably ever occurred," he said the other day. "The affair of honor took place between two Filipinos of unusually large stature. It seems that they had quarreled about a woman, and the one who felt that his feelings had been outraged challenged his rival to a duel to the death. The challenge was accepted, and bolos were selected as weapons. I was taking a ride one morning when I unexpectedly came upon the two men and their seconds just as the duel was about to begin. The bolos had been sharpened and burnished for the occasion until they shone like silver. At the given signal the duel began. I can not describe the horror of their fight. The men parleyed and parried blows, made lunges and feints, and followed much the same tactics as prize fighters. At every blow a stream of blood would flow. At the end of thirty minutes one of the men was minus both his ears and a dozen deep gashes showed on his body. His antagonist had a large piece chipped off his nose and great strips of flesh hung from his body; a deep gash also showed on his left shoulder, where a blow of the bolo had struck deep into the bone.

"The duel had been in progress for nearly an hour, and both men were apparently so weak from loss of blood that they could hardly stand, when one of them seemed to take on superhuman strength for a moment, and, with a terrific and well planned blow, he struck his antagonist squarely across the abdomen. The bolo went through the body like a knife through lard, and the man fell, with his body severed into two parts. I ordered the other wounded man taken to the military hospital.

"I don't see how the fellow can pull through, but he's a good case to experiment on," said the hospital surgeon when the unconscious Filipino was taken into the hospital.

"It was the worst case that had ever been brought to that hospital. The surgeons went to work on the man and patched him up the best they could. They took a deep interest in the case on account of the remarkable character and seriousness of the many wounds which he bore. He lay between life and death for a long time, but finally his condition began to improve, and, to the surprise of all who were acquainted with the case, the man recovered. He was badly crippled, to be sure, but he was able to get around, and was the envy of his Filipino acquaintances. Whether he ever married the brown beauty who caused the trouble I do not know."

RUBBER ROADS PRACTICABLE, BUT COSTLY

London.—"Practicable, but costly," is the verdict of experts on the proposal that London should be made a city of silence by paving its roads with sheet india rubber.

The proposal was the outcome of the success of the rubber road which has recently been laid under the principal archway of Buckingham palace, and of several other private roads which have been laid in London.

It is estimated that the initial cost to the ratepayers of every square yard of rubber covered roadway would be three pounds.

"Rubber roads are hopeless," said the London manager of a firm of rubber tiles. "No public authority would ever dare to venture on the initial expense of such a costly scheme, in spite of the fact that the rubber road lasts a lifetime.

"Rubber flooring is much used for steamships and yachts, and in the United States for libraries, banks, public buildings and even kitchens. In London we have laid it in one or two hospitals and in at least one city office.

"Apart from the cost, however, there is no reason why London streets should not be rubber paved. Horses, for one thing, could dispense with shoes—the rubber would be as soft as grass to their feet. Heavy traffic does not affect it much. The cement paving at Broad street station, Philadelphia, for instance, had to be renewed every two years, but the rubber road laid down there ten years ago is still there. Rubber roads, moreover, are sanitary, clean, and waterproof."

The Pittsburg Leader says: "The Mayflower was raised in exactly two hours, eleven steamboats assisting in the task. She is now entirely clear of water, except a little that still comes in through leaks in her hull. Fortunately the hull is practically uninjured, and the smaller leaks in the hold can be stopped without difficulty. When completed the boat will have a dancing pavilion the full length of the upper deck, about 190 feet. There will be no staterooms on the boat. It is not generally known that when built the idea was to convert her into a towboat if she was not a success as a passenger boat.

The transfer steamer Junius S. Morgan sunk at Cairo Monday morning will be a total loss. She cannot be raised.

WIRES ON BROADWAY TO BE REMOVED SOON

Local Managers Have Not Yet Done Anything

Regular Meeting of Board of Works—Where Gravel From Broadway Goes.

OTHER MATTERS CONSIDERED

The regular meeting of the board of public works was held yesterday afternoon and the matter of removing poles from Broadway was discussed, but no action taken. It was asked that the telephone and telegraph companies begin removing poles and wires from Broadway between Fifth and Ninth next Monday, and representatives of the companies have promised to try to have headquarters order the work begin by then.

No action was taken in the matter of building the storm water sewerage on Kentucky avenue from First to Fifth streets, and on Second from Broadway to Kentucky. It is hoped to have the matter settled by the next meeting of the board. The general opinion is that the sewerage will be a part of the street reconstruction, as the streets cannot be paved without building storm water sewers, and that he will further decide that the city has to pay for it because he has drawn several ordinances requiring the city to pay for it, and has never once informed the boards that the provision was illegal, and the property owners had to do the paying.

The board decided to advertise for bids for reconstructing Second street from Broadway to Kentucky as soon as Engineer Washington completes the plans, which are now being made. The engineer was instructed to notify all property owners along the streets to be immediately paved to have all the gas, water and steam heating pipes they desire to relay put down at once.

Street Inspector Alonzo Elliott was instructed to designate the places the Nashville concern that is to put down the paving on Broadway, shall haul the gravel. The contract requires the company to haul it anywhere within eight hundred feet of the place from which it is taken.

Mr. Elliott recommended that most of the gravel be placed on Monroe street where improvements are being made. The board concurred in this recommendation.

A SLICK TRICK

BOARDER WORKED COL. BUD DALE FOR HIS "KEEP."

Col. Bud Dale, proprietor of the New Richmond Hotel, was worked a day or two ago by one of the easiest games on record.

A man giving the name of Farrell and registering from Chicago, came in and said he wanted regular board. He was well dressed and apparently a man of some importance. He paid his bill for the first few days, and then suddenly neglected to say anything about board.

There was a big trunk in his room, however, and Col. Dale felt safe. Finally, after he was about $10 in debt, Farrell ceased to come around. He has never showed up yet.

Col. Dale continued to wait, thinking that the man was away somewhere for a few days on business, and felt safe, as there was the big trunk still in the room.

Yesterday he happened to think that the trunk belonged to Dave Cassel, who has been working as patrol wagon driver for John Austin while the latter was recovering from his illness. When Cassel took the job he informed Col. Dale that he would not need his room until Mr. Austin was able to resume work, but that he would leave his trunk in it until he came back. The trunk, instead of being the stranger's baggage, therefore belonged to one of Col. Dale's regular boarders, and he is now mourning for his ten-spot.

A THUNDERBOLT AT SEA

(Copyright, 1904, by C. B. Lewis.) This was the situation at 10 o'clock of a fine June morning many years ago: A big English sailing ship called the Kangaroo, one of the last of the Australian packets, was lying becalmed off the African coast to the south of St. Helena, and three miles away was a rakish brig, also without movement. The brig had crept out from the coast during the night under the influence of a light breeze to fire a candle. As was afterward known, she was a Spanish rover called the Celeste.

The Kangaroo would not have been put in a state of defense but for the passengers. Many of them became nervous at the sight of the brig, and to quiet them and at the same time exercise the crew the guns were cast loose, small arms served out, and the peaceful packet was turned into a man-of-war.

There was a providence in it. When the stranger saw that he was suspected he threw off all disguise. Of a sudden his decks were alive with men running about, and later on four boats were lowered and filled with armed men. They were coming to attack the Kangaroo. They must have known that she was armed and had a strong crew aboard, but the pirates of old were men to take long chances. When the boats left the brig's side we counted fifty-two men in all, and it seemed as if as many more were left behind. The black flag was hoisted, and there could no longer be a question as to the sort of men we had to deal with.

The passengers of the Kangaroo to a man volunteered to assist the crew, and we were presently prepared to give a good account of ourselves. We could not long before the pirates reached us that they comprised several nationalities and that they were a desperate lot. The boats divided as they came on, and when within a mile of us the fellows began cheering.

Our first shot was from one of the big guns and could not have been better. It struck one of the boats fair on the stem and split her open full length, and of those not killed outright only two or three were picked up. The disaster only made the rascals the more desperate. Raising a yell, the three remaining boats dashed at us and were soon so close that the big guns were of no further use.

We met them with bullets and buckshot, and we have cold shot into their boats as they looked on, and no gaps of pirates ever got a harder drubbing. Although we lost two men killed and several wounded, not an enemy got aboard, and only two boats and eighteen men returned to the brig.

That night the damaged spars were replaced, shot holes plugged up, and there was no reason why we should not safely make the Cape.

When daylight came we congratulated each other over our victory, and the captain had just decided to make a sort of holiday in honor of the event when a thunderstorm came racing up behind us, and in the midst of the black cloud was the pirate brig. Instead of sailing away in search of a haven or other prey when she had repaired damages she had picked up our trail and was going to give us another brush.

Such grim persistence at first brought a feeling of fright, but this soon gave place to one of grim determination to fight her to the death and show her no mercy. When we had her crippled the night before we could have destroyed her, but Captain Wilson simply sailed away. He now promised the crew to sink her if he could, and there was cheering as the men went to the guns.

Down came the black cloud, and with it down came the pirate, with his black flag flying, and as he ranged up on our port quarter at half rifle shot he opened fire. His first shot struck a gun and killed three men, and his second wounded five men. Then the storm broke, the sea increased, and although the firing continued, no great damage was done on either side.

Daylight was turned into evening by the storm. There was heavy rain, with gusts of wind and the keenepest of lightning and the loudest of thunder. Our decks were ankle deep, but every man stood to his gun and continued to fight. As the darkness increased the brig crept closer to us, and during the last ten minutes of the fight one could have heard a stone about of here.

One saw her in the play of the lightning and for an instant could almost look into the eyes of the men aboard, and then for a few seconds she would be lost in the darkness. So terrific and continuous was the roll of thunder that the reports of the guns were unheard. You felt the concussion along the deck, but the report was lost in the war of the elements.

Loading and firing every gun which would bear as fast as possible, the Kangaroo rushed forward on her course and, hanging to her quarter like a bulldog to his prey, followed the Celeste. Of a sudden there was a great crash aloft, and down came fore and main topmasts together. The men were called from the guns to clear the wreckage, and the ship was in danger of broaching to and being swept when there came such a flash of lightning as seemed to burn the eyeballs. This was followed by a thunderclap which seemed to lift the ship out of the water, and then fifty pairs of eyes saw a great spout of flame shoot up out of the sea. In the midst of the flame were masts, yards and sails and flying objects.

The brig had been struck by lightning, and her magazine had blown up. There was a puff, a boom, a gust of red flame, and that was the end. She was blown into matchwood, with her black flag whipping in the gale and her crew working at the guns, and the last pirate craft to plow the south Atlantic was no more. M. QUAD.

ALDERMEN MEET

MUCH BUSINESS WILL BE ON HAND FOR TRANSACTION
TONIGHT.

The regular meeting of the board of aldermen will be held this evening at the city hall, with the usual amount of business to come up.

The principal thing for the board to consider will be the right of way ordinance for the Paducah-Cairo Electric Railway. The committee to which it was referred held a meeting last Saturday and decided to recommend the ordinance with a few changes, one of which was that no steam cars shall ever be operated over the line.

The right of way remains the same—down Eighth to Clay street, down Clay to Third and up Third to Broadway. Mr. L. B. Whitesides, of New York, one of the promoters of the project, will be here Saturday on business connected with it.

The telephone franchise ordinance of the Cumberland Telephone Company will come up for action. This is the last passage in the upper board. The list of election clerks and officers who served in the supplementary registration, will be submitted and their pay allowed.

The other business will be principally routine, mostly the ratification of the action of the council in matters of minor importance.

THE PAY TRAIN

GLADDENS THE HEART OF BOTH
EMPLOYEES AND MERCHANTS.

The Illinois Central pay car arrived in Paducah this morning at 9 o'clock and all employees are being paid off to-day. The pay car will proceed to Cairo after leaving Paducah tonight and will then go to Fulton, the usual route and work up to Mayfield, then going south again. All merchants will keep open tonight to accommodate the railroad trade.

MUCH BUSTLE NOW ABOUT THE YARDS

Inspection Party Left Chicago Yesterday.

The Date of Its Arrival in Paducah Has Not Yet Been Announced.

OTHER RAILROAD NOTES TODAY

Mr. A. H. Egan, superintendent of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central, was in the city again this morning on business, and stated that the directors of the road, headed by President Fish, Vice President Harahan, the Astors and other prominent millionaires, are now going over the lines and are on the St. Louis division today.

From the St. Louis division the party will go to the Tennessee division, then south and return, reaching Paducah, if it comes this way, about Saturday.

This is not the annual inspection but merely a visit of the directors over the road. The regular annual inspection of lines will begin Monday out of Chicago, Mr. Egan says, and the directors and inspectors on the special train will consume ten days in the work. It is not known when the party will come through Paducah to inspect, but preparations are being made for the visit. It is thought the inspection route will be mapped out from Chicago to St. Louis, then to Paducah; Louisville; Cairo; Memphis, and the south. While the inspectors spend little time at one place, the inspection is nevertheless thorough and if there is anything wrong or unsatisfactory the "good eye" of the inspectors usually detects it.

Superintendents A. H. Egan's many friends are congratulating him on his first year as superintendent of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central, one of the most important and largest on the entire system. Mr. Egan was appointed superintendent a year ago yesterday, and has not only accomplished a great deal, and brought up his division to the best possible degree of perfection, but has made himself popular with his men, and is liked at every station between Paducah and Louisville.

Mr. Charles Sugars, chief yard clerk here for the Illinois Central, has resigned to accept a position as flagman and prepare himself for becoming a conductor. He is succeeded by Day Train Clerk Frank Millard, who in turn is succeeded by Night Train Clerk Lee Spier. Mr. Sugars comes of a family of conductors and takes to it like a duck to water. He is one of the most capable young railroad men in the city.

Mr. F. W. Harlow, division passenger agent of the Illinois Central, with headquarters at Louisville, was in the city today on business connected with the road.

The annual report of the Illinois Central railroad read yesterday at the annual meeting, shows gross receipts from traffic, $46,831,135, a net increase of $12,095,453.

NEW ANESTHETIC

Doctor Discovers Medium in Electricity.

Mild Current Sent Through Brain Has Same Effect as Ether and Chloroform, He Proves.

Dr. S. Leduc of the Academy of Medicine of Paris, is confident that he has discovered in electricity a substitute for the great anesthetics, chloroform and ether.

Dr. Leduc began his experiments on dogs, rabbits, and pigeons. He employed a current of from ten to thirty volts, which he interrupted from 100 to 200 times a second. He sent this current through the brain of the animal or bird on which he was experimenting by applying one electrode on the top of the head and the other at the posterior base of the skull.

In no case did more than ten minutes elapse before the subject was completely anesthetized. They recovered immediately when the current ceased, and not one showed any evil effect.

So confident was Dr. Leduc that this was a harmless and sure method to produce senselessness to pain that he submitted himself to the experience.

An assistant placed one electrode on the doctor's forehead and the other over his spine in the lumbar region, so that the mild but quickly interrupted current was sent through his cerebrum and spinal cord.

In less than ten minutes Dr. Leduc was perfectly anesthetized; he did not feel the prick of needles nor the burn of a red hot iron; his pupil did not respond to irritation.

When the current was shut off he recovered consciousness instantly, and as far from experiencing bad effects, he declared he felt as if he had taken a tonic.

MAY NOT COME

IT IS UNDERSTOOD THAT MR.
RUSSELL GARDNER WILL LOCATE ELSEWHERE.

There has been considerable talk lately in the Paducah and Cairo papers relative to the location of a branch of the Banner Buggy Factory, owned by Mr. Russell Gardner, of St. Louis. Mr. Gardner, who has been in Paducah several times recently, and practically announced at one time not long ago that he intended to locate the branch here, has decided not to come, according to reports. Cairo is now making a strong play for the factory, but it was stated by a close friend of Mr. Gardner here today that Mr. Gardner would probably locate the branch, or addition to his factory, in St. Louis.

The reason he changed his mind about coming to Paducah, it is said by Mr. Gardner's friend, is that he can not get suitable freight rates. Had he been able to market his product at a satisfactory freight rate out of Paducah, he would have come here, but he has about decided now to go elsewhere.

FREAK BETS.

Funny Things Will Be Done After the Election.

New York, Oct. 3.—With election a little over a month away, some funny bets are being made on the presidential result. One man has wagered that if Parker is not elected he will stand on a cake of ice weighing 300 pounds in his bare feet until the ice melts. The Roosevelt man says if his favorite is defeated he will let his hair grow until 1908. According to another bet, if Parker is defeated the Parker man will roll a peanut across the Brooklyn bridge. If Roosevelt is beaten his man will have to get shaved on one side of his face only for one month.

TO REMODEL THE PLACE.

TOBACCO SALES.

The tobacco sales have been small this week, only 113 offerings being recorded for the week. The sales will probably be about one hundred hogsheads.

MRS. CASH WRITES TO FIND OUT WHERE HE WENT FROM HERE.

Mrs. Julia Cash, of near Evansville, Ind., has written the Evansville and Paducah Packet Company officers here to ascertain if they know where her husband, Dr. L. G. Cash, is. He is an optician, and has been here for sometime, practicing largely at the New Richmond Hotel.

Several weeks ago he went away, and his wife in Indiana then began writing to know what had become of him, and seemed to think he might have met with foul play, but he returned a few days after she had written to inquire about him.

She says in the letter received today that she was to take a boat at Evansville with her horse and buggy and come here to join him, and he was to make arrangements with the packet company here. She was to have left September 29th, and she has heard nothing from him since.

When he left here about the first of this month, he said he was going to Evansville to meet his wife, but he has never returned.

His friends here think he will be back in a few days, as he returned before.

BRO. DICKEY'S PHILOSOPHY.

Some folks think de devil is a gentleman; en I mus' say, de ole feller is mighty civil w'en he lookin' fer a saint ter fry.

Poverty is mighty humble; but, give it three square meals a day, en it feels big enough ter git in de middle er de road, cuss out de gas bill, en tell de sun ter stan' still!

I don't worry myse' 'bout de moon en stars havin' people on 'um. It takes des all my time en eddication ter keep on de blind side er de folks in de worl' whar I livin'.

Some folks ery mighty loud fer Justice; but ef dey seen Justice comin' 'tyoug de big road dey'd climb a tree en howl fer a hurricane ter blow 'um inter de middle er de next county.

Many a fool dez got 'thoo' de worl' ez slick ez grease by jes shakin' his head en lookin' wise w'en all de wise mens wuz actin' foolish.

I dummo 'bout dis thing er folks knowin' each other in heaven. Ef dat comes ter pass, en a bailiff, or a bill collector should git in by mistake, dey'd whirl right in and levy on our wings.—Atlanta Constitution.

THE DOCTOR ENLIGHTENED.

One day there entered the hospital a young colored woman badly bitten in the neck just back of the ear. The doctor who dressed the wound said to the patient:

"It perplexes me to determine just what sort of an animal bit you. This wound is too small to have been made by a horse and too large to have been inflicted by a dog or a cat."

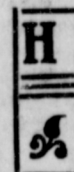

The colored woman grinned. "Sho', doctor, it wa'n't any animal dat bit me, it war a lady sah!"—Edwin Tarisne in August Lippincott's.

ANOTHER SUSPECT.

Will Morris, colored, was locked up this morning charged with having assisted Flora Bell, colored, in robbing or stealing from a crippled man $3. The cripple will secure the warrant this afternoon.

It is pleasant to sit on pins than to wear the heels women do, but they like it.

SENATOR DEPEW'S STORY.

Told at Reception at New York Republican Club to State Candidates.

It seems hard lines to say that the Democratic brother is not competent to conduct the business of this great state and ought not to be entrusted with these larger responsibilities which come with the construction of the barge canal, but I can tell you the reason why.

We all wondered during the Spanish-American war why it was that when the fleet at Santiago was about equal to ours it was sunk in twenty minutes, while ours received only one shot, and we all wondered that while the fleet at Manila was about equal to ours it was sunk in nineteen minutes and we received no shot.

People all over the world could not explain it, and the naval people at Washington had difficulty in finding out how it could have occurred. But coming on from Washington at the close of the last great victory I had as my fellow companion that delightful wit and most charming man and actor, old Joe Jefferson, and I said to him:

"I have been in Washington, and the naval experts cannot tell why it is that Cervera's fleet should have been lost in twenty minutes and not a shot hit our fleet, and the same thing happened at Manila bay."

And Mr. Jefferson said to me, "As an actor of fifty years' experience I can tell you—the Spaniards had not rehearsed."

The trouble with our Democratic brethren is that in the forty-four years since the war, having been in power only four years and in our state not having seen power for the last ten years, they have not rehearsed. [Applause.] And so the performance is not one upon which the people of the state of New York will lift the curtain to hiss the actors off the stage.

No Room For Esopus.

[Special to the New York Times, Dem.] Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—When the name of Judge Alton B. Parker was first mentioned as a Democratic candidate for president, L. Wright, a wholesale liquor importer of New York, seeing the possibility of making money out of a hotel business at Esopus, which, he believed, would become the Mecca for a host of enthusiastic Democrats from all over the United States, obtained options on about all of the property in that quiet village.

Most of the options he secured were for six months, and in some instances only trifling sums were paid. When Judge Parker's nomination became a fact most of the villagers began to have regrets for their precipitancy. As the weeks went by and the great rush of Democratic pilgrims failed to materialize, however, there was a change of sentiment, and now the weight of opinion is that Mr. Wright's options will not make him or anybody very rich.

In the primary stages of the Parker boom Mr. Wright announced that he would erect a dining hall at Esopus to accommodate 1,500, with tents for the overflow. He shipped a great quantity of furniture there and also a large safe. This property was never unpacked and remains in storage at the dock and in private houses in the neighborhood. The big dining hall was never erected, and the local hostilities have proved ample to provide for all comers to date.

A man could smoke mighty good cigars with the money he spends trying to get less enjoyment in other ways.

NO MORE FALLS

DRUGGIST TAKES THE SLICK-NESS OUT OF HIS FRONT DOOR.

A popular druggist was hurrying out of his store this morning with a prescription in his hand which he was taking to a customer waiting in a buggy at the door.

The door base was made of iron and by long service was worn slick. As the druggist struck the slick iron he took a sudden tumble, and hit rather hard in a sitting posture on the pavement. The bottle was shattered, and after the druggist had returned, refilled it and was at liberty to swear to his heart's content, he went inside, emerged shortly with a large chisel and hammer, and attacked the iron door base. He hacked it full of small slits and grooves, and rendered it rough enough for anyone.

"I'll bet I take no more tumbles here," he declared as a reporter passed.

READY FOR WORK

BITULITHIC MEN ARE HERE TO BEGIN PAVING BROADWAY.

It is only a matter of a few days now until the paving of Broadway from Fifth to Ninth with bitulithic compound is in full swing.

It was intended to begin work Monday, and when the contractor's outfit failed to arrive, to start Wednesday. The material and tools still did not all arrive, and today the last of them is expected.

Superintendent Nichols, of the Nashville Paving Company, arrived last night, coming from Birmingham, Ala., where he has been at work, and General Manager G. M. Ingram, of Nashville, arrived this afternoon. It is expected to start tomorrow, and when once started the progress will be rapid.

ALL MUST BE EIGHT FEET.

It has been decided to require all awnings on streets reconstructed or to be reconstructed to be at least eight feet from the pavements. The ordinance has heretofore been applicable only to Broadway from First to Fifth, but it will now be made to extend to all streets that are reconstructed. As soon as the ordinances are passed, notice will be served on all property owners or tenants to comply with it.

THE HORSE FOUND.

Late yesterday Mr. Pat Lally was notified that his horse, which was stolen from his stable on Trimble street the day before, had been found near St. John's. Mr. Robert Torian, who sold the horse to Mr. Lally several months ago, found it while out looking for some horses of his own that were missing. It is supposed that the thieves abandoned the animal, or possibly took it out only to use a short time, then turning it loose.

A FORMER RESIDENT DEAD.

He went with the Hudgen's Map Company after leaving Paducah, and was on his way to Louisville to open state headquarters when illness and death overtook him. He leaves a wife.

WHAT BENEFICENT DESPOTISM IS.

We have the question asked by Judge Parker in his letter of acceptance, "Shall we cling to the rule of the people or shall we embrace a benevolent despotism?"

This sentence has been considered so effective by Mr. Parker's campaign managers that it is found at the top of the editorial page of many democratic newspapers. And yet it is probable that not a single democratic editor knows what Judge Parker meant by his expression,
"benevolent despotism." In fact, the scholars of the country have been consulting their lexicons for a solution of the meaning of this term, and have about given it up in despair. At last, however, we have the answer, and it is found in the following sentences:

John Sharp Williams, the democratic leader of the house, is much troubled in mind about the rights of the Filipinos, who are deprived of proper representation. So long as there are 132 people in his own district who are not voting, to one who is, it seems as if the Mississippian might look nearer home. He was elected to the present congress by the total vote in his district, 1,433; and there are 190,885 people in that district. One in 133 of them voted.

There is another district in Mississippi, represented by Mr. Humphreys, who was also elected without opposition, receiving 1,146 votes out of a population of 232,174. The ratio in his district is 1 to
202. One-half of one per cent, of its population is democratic. Perhaps the other ninety-nine and one-half is too, but there is no proof.

This certainly is despotism—benevolent to the democracy.

PROTECTION OF FREE TRADE.

There is nearly twice as much money on deposit in a single savings bank in New York City (the Bowers Savings Bank) as there is in all the savings bank of Canada. The total deposits in the savings bank of New York state are $160,000,000 greater than the total deposits in all the savings banks of Great Britain and Ireland. The average deposits in the savings banks of New York state is $477.88; the average deposits in the savings banks of Great Britain and Ireland is $88.80. The de-positors in the savings banks of New York state and New York City have been able to accumulate these surplus earnings because of living and working under the operation of a protective tariff. The people of Great Britain are living and working under a tariff for revenue only. The Democratic party, if successful at the polls next November, would change the fiscal policy under which our laborers in this country have on an average nearly $500 to their credit in the savings banks to the policy of Great Britain, where the average depositor has to his credit only $88.

This by no means however fully represents the prosperity of the American worker as compared with his competitor of Great Britain. These savings, it must be remembered, are in addition to far higher standard of living, to far better houses, clothes and food than the average person obtains in Great Britain. It is a policy which we do not think the American wage earner cares to give up in exchange for the policy of the English working man. It is, however, for the laborers of this country to decide this question for themselves, and their decision will in a very short time be made manifest at the polls, whether they wish a continuance of American prosperity or whether they wish a change to the lower standard of living and lower wages of Great Britain.

The "army canteen" question is settled. Just listen to this Frankfort dispatch:

"Inspector General Noel Gaines, of the state militia, has written a letter to Secretary of War Taft, in which he takes issue with Gen. Burton, who in a recent report declared that the canteen was a moral benefit to the army."

All Gen. Gaines overlooked was getting the indorsement of Gen. Percy Haley to the letter. They are both young men of great experience in the army, and what they don't know about it wouldn't be worth worrying over.
Now that Capt. Gaines has given his opinion, the reports of the various other veteran generals can be thrown into the waste basket.

It becomes apparent every time Judge Parker says anything how prudent was his decision not to take the stump. The other day when he thawed out sufficiently to expatiate on the Philippines, he made the assertion that the islands had cost the United States $650,000,000 and 250,000 lives, while the fact is they have directly and indirectly cost but $170,000, 000, and there have never been but 65,000 soldiers in the islands, and are now only 13,000. A man who can't get any nearer the facts than that would have no business being president, if he had any hope of being. And Judge Parker's figures are about as near the facts as Judge Parker is the presidency.

The democrats have undertaken a freeze-out of the populists, thinking that the latter will now support the democratic nominees for congress in the districts where the populist nominees were refused a place on the ballot. The populists should feel them and vote for the republican nominees. It is the only way they can assert their manhood and help destroy the machine crowd that would rule or ruin, and is the only thing they can do to keep from being treated the same way next time.

Nearly a year ago the people of Paducah voted bonds for street improvements, a new market house and city hospital. When the first anniversary rolls around it will find no new market house, no new hospital, and not a block of the new streets. It is to be hoped that the work will be finished by the time the bonds mature.

It is amusing to read in the democratic papers how Congressman Ollie James
"eats up" Hon. J. C. Speight, the republican.

lian nominee for congress, in their joint debates. Mr. Speight is a man of education and ability, a lawyer of unusual accomplishment, and an orator. He has the greatest party in history to champion, and with truth and right on his side, and the ability to defend them, there is not a democrat in the district who can "eat him up."

It sounds funny for Grandpa Davis to lecture the country on extravagance just after he has invested $50,000 in the frivolous pastime of running for the vice-presidency on the democratic ticket.

Judge Parker doubtless wishes the scientists would hurry up and complete that hole 12 miles deep so that he can drop the "imperialism" issue into it.

When Secretary of War Taft gets Gen.
Noel Gaines' letter he needn't be appalled at the nerve. Gen. Gaines is from Frankfort.

The democrats have given up Indiana and Wisconsin, but still cling to the burning deck and are claiming New York.

The soup house was more in evidence than good jobs when the democratic era of low prices prevailed between 1893 and 1903.

The democratic efforts to find a live issue would be funny if they were not so pathetically hopeless.

COOKING EXHIBITIONS

OF RHODES-BURFORD CO. ARE A GREAT SUCCESS.

The cooking exhibitions being held at the Rhodes-Burford Co. this week are proving excellent features for showing off the good qualities of the Buck ranges and cooking stoves and at the same time proving pleasing and profitable affairs for the ladies conducting them.

The Rhodes-Burford Co. is conducting these exhibitions to show off their excellent line of stoves. Each day some society from the different churches of the city has had charge of the cooking the material, all being furnished by the Rhodes-Burford Co. and the money realized from the sales is given to the society in charge for that day. Today the Ladies' Aid society of the Third street M. E. church, is conducting the exhibition, tomorrow the ladies of the Catholic church will be in charge and Saturday the ladies of the Home Mission society of the Broadway M. E. church.
The store has been crowded all week with housekeepers anxious to see the exhibitions, and the sales of cakes and other pastries have brought joy to the hearts and money to the purses of the ladies in charge, and they are singing the praise of Mr. Harry Rhodes, the popular manager of the Rhodes-Burford Co. in loud strains. Mr. Rhodes is giving the exhibitions his personal attention and sees that nothing is lacking to make them great successes.

This afternoon a Buck's Hot Blast heating stove will be given away at eleven and Mr. Rhodes is preparing for a big host of callers.

DEMOCRATIC CONSISTENCY.

1904.

We are unalterably opposed to monometallism, which has locked fast the prosperity of an industrial people in the paralysis of hard times. We demand the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the present legal ratio of sixteen to one, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation.—From the platform adopted by the Democratic party in 1896 at Chicago and reaffirmed in 1900 at Kansas City.

1904.

I regard the gold standard as firmly and irrevocably established, and shall act accordingly if the action of the convention today shall be ratified by the people.—Telegram of Judge Alton B.
Parker, Democratic candidate for president, sent to the Democratic national convention of 1904. After the reading of this telegram Ollie James said Kentucky would go Republican by 100,000.

IS NOT CONFIRMED.

GOOD SPEECHES
BY TWO GREAT MENElihu Root and Senator Fairbanks Make Addresses.They Criticized the Inexcusable Inaccuracy of Judge
Parker.

LARGE CROWDS HEAR THEM

New York, Oct. 20.—Senator Fairbanks and Lieutenant-Governor Frank W. Higgins, republican candidate for governor of New York, addressed a republican mass meeting in Madison Square Garden last night. Former Secretary of War Root presided.

Large delegations of undergraduates of Yale and Princeton were present and took part in the parade, which preceded the meeting. Several delegations from other cities, including the marching club of Pittsburgh, attended.

Mr. Root, in opening the meeting, poke chiefly of national issues. He criticized Judge Parker's recent speech concerning the Philippines. He expressed the opinion that Judge Parker had been deceived, "doubtless by the same anti-imperialist who led him to overstate the cost of American occupation in the Philippines by some four hundred and fifty million dollars." He suggested that Parker read the statutes enacted for the Philippines, and said that if he did so, he'd find a body of law, which for wisdom, for due regard to the interests of any people for whom they are framed, and for constructive ability, challenges comparison with the statutes of any state of the American union.

Mr. Root continued the discussion along this topic at some length, combating the various statements made by Judge Parker.

Senator Fairbanks said in part:
"There is no political party success so important as the triumph of sound national policies. Capital must be assured that it may safely plan for the future.
It must feel satisfied that the basis upon which it calculates is not to be undermined or disturbed by irrational or temperary policies. The republican party has, during its entire career, stood for those policies which have been enduring.
It has stood for the best thought with respect to economical and financial policies, knowing full well that the highest and best interests of labor and capital are to be promoted by a rigid adherence to the soundest policies."

He said the policies for which the republican party stands have been tried for years and have been vindicated by experience.

In his discussion of the tariff, Mr.
Fairbanks said:

"The republican party has been always ready to revise the tariff whenever revision has been essential to the public interest. It is not in favor of revision for the mere sake of change. It is not in favor of revision along free trade lines. Whenever it becomes evident that a revision is needed in the public interest the republican party is willing and able to make it; but it will make it consistently with the protective policy; it will make it so as to preserve the protective principle and promote our industrial development, not to check or overthrow it."

Mr. Higgins spoke of purely state issues.

IS ORDERED SOLDJudge Reed Fixed Date of Sale
Nov. 14th Next.It Was Built Two Years Ago—
Little Circuit Court Held Today.

POLICE AND OTHER COURTS

This morning in circuit court a judgment was filed in the case of the Globe Bank & Trust Company, trustees, against the Seacoast Mineral Company, of Mechanicsburg, ordering a sale of the company property to satisfy claims filed against it.

The Seacoast plant was built here a few years ago by New York capitalists for L. O. Garrett, who claimed he had a method of separating spar. The plant has never been running in full blast. Those holding claims against it began to file suits in circuit court,
and mechanics' liens in county court, until quite a number of actions were docketed against it.

This morning when the above case came to trial, asking for a sale of the property to satisfy the claims, Judge Reed ordered the sale for the 14th day of November.

The master commissioner, Cecil Reed, was ordered to secure a list of the debts against the concern and certify it to the court, for a distribution of the proceeds.

The suit decided today by Judge
Reed was filed by the Globe Bank & Trust Company on about $14,000 worth of bonds of the Seacoast Company.

This morning Judge Reed adjourned court to his office on account of the sickness of the typewriters in the circuit clerk's office. The county court room was too cold and the doors of the vault separating the circuit clerk's office from the court room, were thrown open so that heat from the stove in the circuit clerk's office could go into the court room. On account of the sickness of the typewriters, however,
court had to adjourn.

Only demurrers and motions are being acted on today, and Judge Reed will do nothing of importance before Monday when the trial of jury cases comes up.

A demurrer to the suit of Dr. Childress for $100, against Mrs. Birdie Campbell and Mr. S. A. Fowler for professional services, was sustained.

A demurrer of the defendant in the suit of Mrs. Rosa Robertson against
J. E. English was sustained.

The suit of the City of Paducah against the East Tennessee Telephone Company for rent on poles and to "oust it from Paducah," was dismissed.

F. W. Roberts, who sues Dr. Hessig and wife for $10,000 for damages for alleged alienation of his wife's affections and inducing her not to live with him, was ordered to verify his petition.

Judge Reed filed his written opinion in the suit of County School Trustee
Downing and others against County School Superintendent Ragsdale to prevent the latter from appointing new trustees in their places. The decision is in favor of the county superintendent.

The suit of W. W. Lyon against the city for a balance on assessors' maps he made for the city and which it is claimed were never completed, was continued.

LICENSED TO MARRY.

Ed Butler, of the city, age 30, and Lottie Moore, of the city, age 26, have been licensed to wed. It will make

SUSPECT ARRESTED.

Flora Bell, colored, is under arrest as a suspect. She is alleged to have been implicated in a robbery, and a man is expected to come to police court today to procure a warrant against her. The woman is being held.

TO MARRY TUESDAY.

Invitations are issued here today announcing the marriage of Miss Fannie Whitlock and Mr. Forest M. Grimmer, of this city, on Tuesday, October 25, at 8 a. m. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. T. J. Newell, D. D., of the Broadway Methodist church. It will be a home wedding, so the invitations are necessarily limited.

Miss Whitlock is the only daughter of Mrs. Margaret Whitlock, of 1018 Harrison street, who has been a resident of Paducah for many years and is well known to the older families of the city. She is a young lady of many fine amiable qualities and has a host of friends here to wish her much happiness. She has been the bookkeeper of the Smith & Scott Tobacco company for several years and is greatly valued by the firm. She will be succeeded there by Mr. Edward Scott, of this city.

Mr. Grimmer is the foreman of the Smith & Scott Tobacco company, and is a popular and rising young business man. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Grimmer, and resides at Ninth and Burnett streets.

The bride will wear a pretty dress of white China silk and her going-away gown is a brown cloth suit. They will leave on the 9:30 train for St. Louis and on their return will be at home at 1018 Harrison street.

IS CRITICALLY ILL.

The Evansville Courier says of a young man popular in Paducah society and a frequent visitor to Paducah:

"There is practically no change in the condition of C. L. Hinkle, who for the past few days has been suffering from paralysis of the throat and partial paralysis of the left side of his body. Dr. Bacon, the attending physician, says that while the patient's condition is extremely critical he still believes he has a chance to recover. When Mr. Hinkle was first attacked Dr. Bacon hoped signs of improvement would begin to develop within a few hours, and the fact that there has been no change up to this time is anything but encouraging."

"Mr. Hinkle has no use whatever of the muscles of his throat and is unable to take nourishment through the mouth in his present condition he will not be able to keep up the fight for life for any great length of time. Everything possible for his relief is being done, but as yet the disease has shown no signs of yielding to medical treatment."

MARRIED TODAY.

Miss Lula Flowers, formerly of this city, was united in marriage to Prof. J. W. Witter, of New York, today in Washington, D. C., where she has lived for the past several years.

WHAT THE WORLD WANTS.

Men who cannot be bought.
Men who put character above wealth.
Men who see the divine in the common.

Men who will not lose their individuality in a crowd.
Men who will be as honest in small things as in great things.
Men whose ambitions are not confined to their own selfish desires.

Men who are not afraid to take chances, who are not afraid of failure.
Men who will not have one brand of honesty for business purposes and another for private life.

THEATER FIRES

Audience Quietly Dismissed at Chicago Without Disorder.

Building Had Been on Fire for Some Time Before Spectators Were Apprised.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 20.—An audience that crowded the Bastable Theater sat through the performance last night unconscious that half the city's fire department was fighting a fire two floors above the theater. So perfect were the precautions taken by the theater management, the police and fire officials, that, although the streets outside were jammed with excited people, not one in the big audience knew anything was wrong until water began to drip from the ceilings. Then the audience was told that a pipe had burst, and no trouble was experienced.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Fire last night caused the dismissal of the audience in the Haymarket Theater, although there was no blaze in the theater, and as it proved difficult to subdue, the management of the theater caused the steel curtain to be lowered, all the exits to be thrown open and the audience was informed that the performance, which was only half finished, would be discontinued. The people fled out without any panic, and in complete ignorance of the fire next door.

The blaze was confined to the building in which it originated, and caused a damage of several thousand dollars. Two firemen were slightly hurt by the explosion of a quantity of collodion.

Populists Will Get Candidates on Ballots.

Petitions Filed With County Clerk Instead of Secretary of State.

Mr. J. Will Graham, the Populist leader in this district, today filed with County Clerk Charles Graham a petition containing several hundred names, to have the name of Dr. J. H. Lackey, of Trigg county, placed on the ballots as the Populist nominee for congress in this district.

It has been claimed by Secretary of State McChesney that it is too late to get these names on the ballot, but the county clerk says this is a mistake. They say it is always the custom to file the petitions for congressman with each of the county clerks in the district. Those petitions that have to be filed with the secretary of state must be filed thirty days before election, and those that must be filed with the county clerk 15 days.

The petition filed today is similar to that filed in every county in the First district and if the same thing is done in all the counties, the populist nominee for congress will be on the ballot after all.

AMONG THE SICK FOLKS.

The little son of Mr. W. A. Mundy, the Illinois Central engine foreman, is very ill.

The little daughter of Mr. Henry Hille, of the local Illinois Central shops, is precariously ill and Mr. Hille is off duty attending her bedside.

Patrol Driver John Austin has about recovered from the injuries he received several weeks ago by being assaulted somewhere between Paducah and Vicksburg, Miss., but will not be able to resume work at the city hall for a week or two.

THE BRIDE KNOWN HERE.

Family of Rats End Life Together.

In the yard of a local residence, a pathetic sight was seen the other morning. Near the water faucet was a family of dead rats. They had eaten Stearns' Electric Rat and Roach Paste and rushed out of the house to the nearest point where there was water, and gave up life together. Stearns' Electric Rat and Roach Paste is sure death. It is easy to use and absolutely guaranteed to kill cockroaches, water bugs, rats, mice, etc., driving them out of the house to die. Dealers generally have the Paste for sale, or package will be sent, express prepaid on receipt of price by the Stearns' Electric Paste Co., Tribune Building, Chicago, Ill. ANOTHER MISHAP.

"Windy Jim" Jameson, one of the employees of the construction company that is building the Tennessee river bridge, had an arm broken yesterday by one of the big concrete carriers that are lowered into the caissons coming down suddenly and striking him, the blow breaking his arm and painfully bruising him. It was in the same manner that James White, a laborer, was killed Saturday.

CURES CHILLS AND FEVER.

BACK TO THE WOODS

CREEPING BEAR HAS ENOUGH OF THE STRENUOUS LIFE.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 19.—"I am going back to my tribe in North Dakota as soon as I see some of the members of the Improved Order of Red Men who helped me out in my trial," said Joe Creeping Bear, who was given his liberty. Continuing he said: "My tribe lives on the spot where General Custer and his soldiers were massacred. There are 5,000 of them. My father is still living, and I am anxious to see him."

Joe expressed himself as very glad to get out of the trouble growing out of his killing of ex-Policeman Mallard. He declared that he would never get into any more such trouble, as this had learned him a most valuable lesson.

GOOD SPIRITS.

Good spirits don't all come from Kentucky. Their main source is the liver—and all the fine spirits ever made in the Blue Grass state could not remedy a bad liver or the hundred and one ill effects it produces. You can't have good spirits and a bad liver at the same time. Your liver must be in fine condition if you would feel buoyant, happy and hopeful, bright of eye, light of step, vigorous and successful in your pursuits. You can put your liver in fine condition by using Green's August Flower—the greatest of all medicines for the liver and stomach and a certain cure for dyspepsia or indigestion. It has been a favorite household remedy for over thirty-five years. August Flower will make your liver healthy and active and thus insure you a liberal supply of "good spirits." Trial size, 25c; regular bottles 75c. For sale by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

GIVING GRADES

WORK PROGRESSING SATISFACTORILY ON STREET CAR LINE.

City Engineer L. A. Washington has given the Street Car Company additional grades for its extension out through the Rottgering farm in Kowlandtown, and work is progressing as well as desired. The company has plenty of time to build its new line, which is quite long, and costs a large amount of money. It is cutting its right of way through the woods practically, but is making reasonably good headway.

THE BEST DOCTOR.

Rev. B. C. Horton, Sulphur Springs, Texas, writes, July 19th, 1899: "I have used in my family Ballard's Snow Liniment and Horehound Syrup, and they have proved certainly satisfactory. The liniment is the best we have ever used for headache and pains. The cough syrup has been our doctor for the last eight years." 25c, 50c, $1.00.

Sold by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

A HANDSOME PORTRAIT.

A fine enlarged picture of Chief of Police James Collins has been presented to him by friends, and will be hung in the chief's office at the city hall, along with other former city marshals, including Messrs. Tom Birchett, T. J. Atkins, James Geary and Clint Wilcox. This leaves only two pictures to be secured of former marshals, there now being no office of marshal, and these are former Marshal James Crow and former Marshal George Fisher, the latter deceased. Chief Collins saw longer service than any of them, is still at the head of the police department and is one of the best criminal catchers in the country.

CURES WINTER COUGH.

J. E. Gover, 101 N. Main St., Ottawa, Kan., writes: "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got for her a bottle of Horehound Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever the cough troubles her, two or three doses stops the cough, and she is able to be up and well." 25c, 50c, $1.00.

Sold by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

The Grand Promoter

He Runs Up Against a Hard Hearted Landlord and Meets His Waterloo.

MAJOR CROFOOT, grand promoter and general organizer of general enterprises, had just reached his office the other morning when his landlord, accompanied by a deputy sheriff, opened the door and walked in. The major's heart gave three loud raps against his ribs, and his knees wobbled, but five seconds later he had pulled himself together, forced a juneberry smile and extended his hand to exclaim: "What a coincidence! What a coincidence! I was thinking of you, Mr. White, at this very moment and wondering if I should send a check for the rent around to you or wait till you called."

The landlord and the officer sat down and crossed their legs and folded their arms and concentrated all their attention on the major, but neither spoke a word.

"Yes, I will draw you a check for the rent," continued the major as he found an old rag to wipe his hands on. "Might have sent it around, but rather expected you'd call. It's for $14, one month's rent. I think the room is cheap at that figure, though it needs a few repairs. Fine weather, isn't it?" Neither of the men replied. The major seemed a bit rattled, but shook off the feeling and sat down to his desk and got out an old checkbook that had done duty a hundred times before as a bluff.

THE SLIGHTEST MOVEMENT SETS BABY TO SLEEP.

"Fourteen dollars; $14?" he mused as he held his pen suspended. "One month's rent at $14 is—$14. Perhaps I have the cash here with me. You'd as soon have the cash as a check, I suppose?"

It was the landlord to whom he addressed his query, but that individual neither spoke nor made a sign. He simply sat and looked grim. "No, I don't seem to have the exact amount," said the major after searching through all his pockets and bringing to light the sum of 31 cents. "Never mind, however. It is only a step round to the Sixteenth National bank. Fourteen dollars; $14! Look here, landlord."

The landlord was looking "here," so was the deputy sheriff. They were looking for all they were worth. "By George, but it had slipped my mind for a moment. See here, now, but I want to tell you of my last enterprise. Just got all the details settled yesterday and shall file articles of incorporation today. It's the biggest thing of the seventeen different enterprises I have promoted. Capital is all raised and paid in, and a dividend of 50 per cent is guaranteed for the first year. Mr. White, you are the very man I want for general manager. Yes, sir, the very man, and if you don't make $20,000 next year it won't be my fault. Let me explain."

The landlord did not object; neither did the deputy. Both of them winked at long intervals, but the rest was a cold, steady stare—a stare that would in time have pierced a stone wall and frozen a calf on the other side of it.

"It's the Universal Yankee Perambulator company, unlimited," he continued. "A perambulator, as you know perhaps, is a baby carriage and is called a peramb for short. This one is my own invention. It's a willow body resting on six rubber tired wheels and four springs. The slightest movement produces a rocking motion and sets the baby to sleep. You may run one over a fence or up the side of a house without waking the baby up. Each peramb is provided with air cushions, and in case the carriage rolls off the wharf it floats away high and dry. I call that device alone worth at least a million dollars."

The major paused to mop his forehead and caress his cheek, and, though he looked at the two men and waited for some word in reply, not a syllable came. It was the same cold, steady stare, continued in his next.

"Nothing has been overlooked," continued the man of check, with a sinking heart. "Each person is provided with a nursing bottle, a bottle of soothing syrup, a rattlebox and a stick of peppermint candy. The instant the baby awakes he finds everything ready at hand, and he deserves killing if he begins to howl. Each carriage carries a clock, that the nurse may be posted as to the time. There is one shade to keep off the sun, another to keep off the rain, and all the nurse has to do is to sit down on a bench and read a novel and look out for maniacs and mad dogs. Any baby can have a case of the croup and get over it without disturbing the nurse a single minute. Can't you see the value of the thing?" They could, but they didn't say so.

It was still that same cold blooded stare.

"There are a few other little inventions of my own," said the major as he swallowed the lump in his throat. "When a baby is teething he is liable to have fits. Each peramb is equipped with an electric battery, and in case of fits the nurse turns on the current without looking up from her book, and in ten minutes the baby is smiling and crowing. There is also a hot water bag to put at its feet, and—"

The deputy slowly followed suit.

Mr. White advanced upon the grand promoter and put his arms around him and lifted him off his feet and carried him out into the hall. At the same time the deputy sheriff seized hold of the desk and drew it out, and then turned his attention to the two chairs and the old hat hanging on the wall. In just two minutes the major was evicted and the door locked on him.

"Gentlemen, why this outrage?" he demanded as he was released from the landlord's grasp, but it was a mild demand.

"There was no reply."

"I owe one month's rent, $14, and I sit down to draw a check for it, when—"

The two men turned away.

"Besides paying the month's rent, Mr. White, I was intending to offer you one of the best things of your lifetime—a yearly salary of $15,000 and a block of stock free gratis, but before I can do so I am seized!"

The landlord and the deputy went slowly downstairs, and after trying his office door and finding it securely locked the major sat down on a chair with his chin in his hands and mused: "By John, but I can't make out how they did it—I can't make it out."

BEAUTY TRIUMPHS.

'Tis a Priceless Treasure.

Beauty is woman's greatest charm. The world adores beautiful women. A pretty woman dreads maternity for fear of losing this power. What can be done to perpetuate the race and keep women beautiful? There is a balm used by cultured and uncultured women in the crisis. Husbands should investigate this remedy in order to reassure their wives as to the ease with which children can be born and beauty of form and figure retained.

Mother's Friend

is the name by which this preparation is known. It diminishes the pain allied to motherhood. Used throughout pregnancy it relieves morning sickness, cures sore breasts, makes elastic all tendons called upon to hold the expanding burden. Muscles soften and relax under its influence and the patient anticipates favorably the issue, in the comfort thus bestowed.

Mother's Friend is a liniment for external application. It is gently rubbed over the parts so severely taxed, and being absorbed lubricates all the muscles.

Druggists sell it for $1 per bottle. You may have our book "Motherhood" free. THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.

"Twas for love of her," she said softly.

When he spoke again she felt a thrill in his voice.

"Mademoiselle, suppose a man loves with a love that fills all the sky; that for him there was but the one woman in the world. Suppose she found that he was not what she had thought him when she first loved him; that the idol she had worshiped was just clay. If he stood mean and small before the world—before her—but still loving her, adoring her? If it were not a princess going to a ball in the forest, but a woman proud and—and ashamed? Could she still love him as before? Could she? Could she?"

Her eyes could not meet his burning ones.

"Monseigneur," she said, quivering, "when a woman loves, she will forgive anything—everything—in the man she loves save—"

She stopped. There was a muffled sound of horse hoofs from the climbing road.

"Save what?"

"Save lack of love for her."

The hoof beats were coming nearer. She made a desperate effort to compose herself. He had bent toward her, so near she could smell the fragrance of hazel bushes in his hair.

"Then it would not matter, she would not care?" he cried joyously. "He might be either the prince or the woodcutter, mademoiselle?"

The last shaft of the sunlight tumbled and tumbled on her brow. Dark leaved near. Only a gold brush was laid lightly upon the middle distance.

"If a woman loved and was loved so naught else would count, not even— even if she were despised by all the world—even?" Her lips were trembling. She felt his hand on the bench beside her and she touched her own.

There was a tramping behind them. Both turned to the porch, where Lord Fairfax stood leaning on Joe's arm to welcome the two riders who had just dismounted. The young man made an exclamation.

"Why," exclaimed Anne, "is the governor himself, returned from Fort Tilt?"

As they approached, the girl crimsoned with the memory of her night errand to the Winchester fort, the earl was bending kindly over the hand of Mrs. Tiltson in the doorway.

"You honor my poor house with this visit," said the old man, beaming. "Anne, you know his excellency."

The governor bowed to her courtesy and set his eyes on the pale face of the figure at her side. First a low chuckle began in his throat; then he slapped his thigh.

"So that was how the land lay?" he gasped. "Not content with quarreling with my soldiers, eh? And incontinence to yet, I'll be bound!"

The baron stood staring, and Anne looked a bit frightened.

The governor reached a thick arm and prodded the young man gently in the ribs. "Sly dog, eh?" he winked. "Tut, tut! Would you still deny us poor Virginians? Hail, then, come here! Ladies, my Lord Fairfax, it pleases me to present to you M. le Marquis de la Trouerie."

CHAPTER X.

THE Marquis de la Trouerie was a huge success. Williamsburg's wealth and beauty lived in entertaining him, and no rout was complete without him.

At the Raleigh tavern, whose low wooden walls were kept a-broil with packs of new devils brought by young bloods of the navy from the slop of war Fowey, come to anchor in York Roads, he was the center of observation when he dined. Commissions in the royal navy went for gold in that rotten reign, and their holders were younger sons with as much money to spend as the younger sons of the broad manors of Virginia.

Her arms went up about his neck.

Young Brooke, who, by aid of half the broken fortune harpies and rooks of London, had long ago run through all he could lay hands on and whose talk was always, "When I hunted at Tunbridge Wells with my Lord This," or "When my Lord That had me at Henderson castle for Easter," had now nobility near at hand to desert upon.

"A great man in France," he would enlighten the roomful, smoothing his ruffles, "favorite of Marie Antoinette's, they say, and as rich as John Dory. Egad, I'd like the pattern of the coat he had on this morning!"

As for the marquis, he took his honors quietly, superbly. More than once it was reported that he had dined privately with the royal governor, but he himself clearly thought it scarce worth mentioning.

An interesting story of a duel with Captain Foy gained currency for a time. The captain was said to have wounded the marquis slightly by foul means, but Foy was absent much of the time on business for the governor, and the story was forgotten save for the passing glamour it cast upon the new favorite.

The nobleman's preference for the beauty of Williamsburg was soon perceived, and very early Mrs. Ryrd had begun to hint at broken hearts and the folly of young girls who set their eyes too high.

Anne herself was never so beautiful, never so brilliant, never so wilfully captivating, as now, when a scarf of gayety hid the passion of many hearts fermenting.

On an afternoon they two, Anne and Armand, walked slowly under the pines that stretched down from the gateway of Gladden Hall.

Just before the martletted gateway she stopped.

"You are cruel to me, mademoiselle. His voice was anxious, vibrating, long."

"Why cruel, monsieur?"

"Ah, I need not tell you that?" he said, looking at her earnestly. "Is it that I have failed? Am I not some how what you would wish in—a nobleman? Is there something lacking?"

She shook her head. "No, no!"

"Yet something is different. I have searched so hard to find what it is, I have seen you at the routs and have danced with you, but you are not the same."

"At Greenway Court, where the leaves were falling—I wish it could have been so always, us two, in the forest; you were kinder and not so cold to me!"

"Marquis! There was a splendor of color in her face, bent sweet to him. Her eyes, tinted and lustrous, were gay beneath the warm glimmer of her hair."

"Marquis!" repeated the young man, flushing. "I was not that to you in the forest. I found then that you were not like the ladies of my land, who know naught save grandeur and titles, but that you could be above such things, that you were such a one as I have dreamed must be somewhere. I ask you only to be to me as you were then—as you were that day when the governor came back—when I sat with you on the hillside. Can you forget, mademoiselle, that I am not just the same that I was then?"

"You are so much more. Then I did not know who you were."

"I would the governor had not come," he said. "I would have remained to you just the same as I had been—just the same as when for one moment I held you in the broken coach, and that moment when I opened my eyes at Greenway Court and saw your face!"

She felt her hands trembling, her heart beating its way through her breast. His voice was very low as he went on:

"A man finds some time the one of all the world he would not have cold to him. He may never have seen her—her whom he has looked for all his life—the woman in his heart! But he always knows her when he hears her speak! He can never know when or where that may be. It is at the ball or walking in the street or riding in a coach. That day, mademoiselle—and it was before you knew—I was just M. Armand, not the Marquis de la Trouerie. I was not great then, but just a man—and unworthy!"

"No," she said, her tone tremulous; "not unworthy. That night at the tavern in Winchester—that was the bravest thing I had ever seen—the noblest! Do you think anything, anything, could make me forget that?"

"And you would have come to me! But now—but now?"

She looked at him with a little vibrant thrill of pride. How sweetly blind he was! "Now?" she asked.

"Now I can only ask you to remember that it was M. Armand, not the marquis, who knelt to you when you laid your hand on his head that night at Winchester, with the whippoorwill and the moonlight, and who told you—what he is trying to tell you now, what he tried to tell you when you saw him lying at Greenway Court, only you would not listen."

She turned to him a look that was all melting, all tenderness, all confusion of impulses, a look that caught him and held him spellbound.

W. C. Gray

"You kissed me?" cried Armand in a triumphant voice. "You kissed me! It was not a dream! Look in my eyes!"

She looked at him, paling, feeling her hands imprisoned in his own. He laughed with a low, fierce delight, for her breath was quick, her eyes like mist and fire.

"Do you love me?" he breathed, a sudden passion leaping in his voice. "Do you love me?" He caught her close to him. The whole world turned beneath her feet, and the stars shook. "My gold rose! Tell me! Is it so?"

She moved her head with a mingled gesture of pride, of shame of yielding, of assent. Then with a little cry, frightened yet joyful, she felt his arms, masterful, draw her close to him and stood trembling, joyous, a wave of love engulfing her.

"Answer me," he said. "The night we sat in the rustic house and the sun was a big red flower closing. You remember what I asked you?"

"If the man you loved—if I—should come to be mean and unworthy before the world?"

"But you are not."

"If I were?"

"My king!"

"If you saw me sneered at, despised, but still loving, still worshipping?"

"I would love you! I would love you!"

A light came over his face, brilliant and pale. "With the love that is the all, that is greater than the world, that is above station, above honors, above name? That outlasts them all?"

Her arms went up about his neck, and their lips met in a first long kiss.

"All," she whispered. "All! All! Lou!"

"My beloved!"

Anne peered into the warm library of Gladden Hall, all aglow with her strange new delight. The fire was low, and doming embers made the dusk rosy and uncertain. She smiled, as she saw the dim figure sitting with feet outstretched, just the top of the powdered peruke showing over the back of the big chair.

With her finger on her lips in that instinctive pantomime that belongs to woman, she stole across the floor on tiptoe and, sweeping suddenly, clasped her cold palms over the eyes of the solitary occupant and laughed gaily as he started and put warm hands to her chill ones.

"I have a secret to tell you," she breathed with a fluttering laugh, "and you mustn't look at me when I say it. I wonder if any one in Virginia can be as happy as I am. The Marquis de la Trouerie—uncle, he has asked me to wed him!"

She ended with a subdued scream and, stumbling, went back a few steps, for the figure that had risen from the chair was not Colonel Tiltson. Even in the dim light as she retreated she could see the glare of flaming mottos in his look and the sweet curling of his full lips.

"I tell you, Captain Jarrot," she said in a voice of fierce anger, "I hate you! I hate your face and your crafty ways! Ah," she ended, stamping her foot, "no gentleman would have let me speak—would have listened."

"I am no marquis," Jarrot rejoined with a ghastly smile. "I am only sorry I did not hear the end of that sweet confidence. The fair Mistress Tiltson answered that she would joy to wed the noble gentleman, I suppose."

A GOOD EXAMPLE

For Judges to Follow all Over the State.

How They Get Good Juries at Owensboro—No "Bystanders" Allowed.

A great deal of interest has been aroused throughout the state over the innovation of a circuit judge in Owensboro in not allowing the men who hang around the court house to get on a jury, to serve.

The Owensboro Inquirer says: Taxpayers and residents of Owensboro are to be congratulated upon the successful introduction of reforms in the conduct of the business of the circuit court since the accession of Judge T. P. Birkhead. A glance at the records of the terms of court since he assumed the bench shows that real, actual results have been obtained.

There have been fewer perversions of justice, less laxity of official performance and a generally higher moral tone than had existed for several years.

Judge Birkhead did not assume the bench with a blare of trumpets announcing what he would do. But among his first acts as a jurist was that of completely revolutionizing the prevailing order of things in the selection of juries. His attitude and course in the matter alone has doubtless done more to break up the influence of selecting juries than any other step could have accomplished.

Believing that the jury wheel was designed as an article for use and not for ornament, Judge Birkhead resuracted it from the limbo of things antique and pressed in into service.

There were protests from court officers and attorneys, but he remained obdurate. It was not so convenient for the court officers to go out into the country, sometimes for many miles, to secure a juror whose name had been drawn from the wheel, as to step out into the corridor and summon one of the many loungers about the courthouse during the sessions—men who were awaiting the call of the officer and the per diem—professional jurors. Hence the complaint of court officers.

And the wails of attorneys that his course caused delay was as unavailing. They saw no necessity or justice in the use of the jury wheel when the professional jurors—men well known to the attorneys—were within 100 feet of the court room door. Probably the attorneys were prompted by a desire to see their friends of the court house corridors in the jury box, assured of their daily share of the taxpayers' money, prompted this devotion to their interests. Nothing shows the existence of any other motive in this devotion to the welfare of the professional juror.

But the result was not good, and Judge Birkhead saw it. Court terms passed with mistrials, acquittals where conviction was justice, and vice versa, marring the record of the court and making the administration of law the laughing stock of many. Criminals feared not to continue their ways, because justice was too slow to catch them or misdirected altogether. And during this time the taxpayers suffered.

But Judge Birkhead brought a change. The old rule of expediency in selecting juries at the expense of expediency in reaching results gave way to a better condition of affairs. The personnel of grand and petit juries was improved. Bright, intelligent faces were seen in the jury box—men who were but casual acquaintances, if not utter strangers, to the warring attorneys and the cause at issue—and verdicts were returned. Two murderers were actually sentenced to pay the penalty of law for their crimes. Court business has been disposed of promptly, at less expense and with results satisfactory to the public, and the old complaint of miscarriage, with the resultant mob spirit, has died out in the community.

"My wife has used several bottles of Emulso Hypo with Iron and has been wonderfully improved. I can conscientiously recommend it for all lung trouble."

LET US SHOW YOU

Imagine a heater that will produce just as much heat from 1 1-4 tons of soft coal, or even slack, as any hard coal heater does with one ton of expensive hard coal. Imagine the saving—stop to think how quick this kind of a heater would actually pay for itself. Imagine a heater burning soft coal or slack, and producing no smoke, no soot, no gas. It sounds too good to be true, doesn't it? It is a fact, though, that any fuel used in this wonderful, remarkable heater, cokes any and all kinks of fuel and reduces it to a fine white ash. That's what Buck's Hot Blast will do. The Buck's Hot Blast is built on scientific principles—it does not permit the 38 per cent. of gas and smoke in soft coal to escape up the chimney, but burns it up—turns it into fuel. That is why it is the most wonderful heater in the world. How can it help but be popular when it actually pays for itself before two seasons are over. You can buy any Buck's Hot Blast on our floor, and they are the handsomest heaters in appearance ever shown, for 10 cents a day.

KENTUCKY NEWS TOLD IN PARAGRAPHS

FOR ALLEGED THEFT.
Mt. Sterling, Ky., Oct. 20.—The Climax Milling Company, of this city, has been systematically robbed during the past year until their loss is said to aggregate $25,000. Officer John W. Taul, of this city, has arrested Wade Hall of Clay City, and Bob Tipton, of this place, colored, charged with the robbery. While in Clay City he discovered where they had sold 100 sacks of shelled corn. He also recovered 151 empty sacks belonging to the mill.

INJURED IN A RUNAWAY.
Murray, Ky., Oct. 20.—As Mrs. V. M. Hargrove and Mrs. W. O. Hargrove, of the Flint neighborhood, were coming to town in a buggy, the horse became frightened and ran away. Mrs. V. M. Hargrove attempted to jump out and was thrown with much violence, sustaining a dislocation of the hip and severe cuts. Mrs. W. O. Hargrove remained in the buggy but was finally thrown out, but sustained no serious injury.

DEATH AT OWENSBORO.
Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 20.—Major Isaac Calhoun, one of the leading citizens of McLean county, is dead. He was the son of Judge John Calhoun, a famous jurist of the early days of the last century. He held a commission as major in the Seventeenth Kentucky U. S. Volunteers, resigning in 1862. He served two terms in the legislature and was for many years prominent in politics. He accumulated a fortune and was a man of strong character and wide influence.

MARRIAGE IN GRAVES.
Mayfield, Ky., Oct. 20.—Wednesday morning at the Baptist parsonage, Mr. S. d. Brower and Miss Ethel Bailey, both of Dublin, Ky., were married.

The groom is engaged in the saw mill business at Dublin, while his bride is the charming daughter of Mr. Tom Bailey.

MARRIED IN FULTON.
Fulton, Ky., Oct. 20.—Hugh French and Miss Maud Lansford were married at Hickman.

Mr. James F. Liggett of Graves county eloped to Union City and was married to Mrs. Lee Davis, of Obion county. The home of the groom is Farmington.

NOT TOTAL

INSURANCE MEN THINK FORTY THOUSAND WILL COVER THE REHKOPF LOSS.

While it is yet an impossibility to get at the exact damage or loss sustained in the Rehkopf fire night before last, the insurance men say the loss will not exceed 50 per cent. on the stock and buildings.

"I have figured closely on the matter," an insurance man stated today, "and think the total loss or damage will not amount to over $40,000. The firm has not yet furnished a complete invoice of the stock, and until this is done the loss can not be figured."

The work of clearing away the debris at the damaged buildings is progressing, but no definite announcement is made of what the firm intends to do. It is possible benches will be placed in the building of the John G. Rehkopf Company, on Broadway, and part of the men put to work about Monday.

EXCITING FOOTBALL CONTEST.

HAVE RETURNED HOME.

Mr. H. C. Thompson, secretary of the Buck Stove and Range Company, St. Louis, Mr. Felix Blackwell, a traveling man for the firm, and Manager George Moran, of the Rhodes-Burford establishment at East St. Louis, have returned home after a visit here with Manager Rhodes, of the local branch. They witnessed the great baking contests and pronounced them fine.

WILL HOLD REVIVAL.

Rev. W. P. Hamilton, of the Third Street Methodist church, will begin a revival next Sunday, and be assisted by Rev. W. W. Armstrong, of the Trimble street church. The revival will continue indefinitely, and possibly Rev. L. D. Hamilton, of Murray, will come to assist the former, who is his brother.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The Southern Railway has inaugurated a line of free reclining chair cars on the night trains between Lexington, Louisville and St. Louis through without change in each direction, in addition to the through sleepers and coaches heretofore operated.

These are brand new vestibuled cars with all the latest improvements, including smoking compartment, separate wash rooms for ladies and gentlemen, lighted by Pinesch gas. These reclining chair cars are sure to prove popular with the patrons of the road as they are very comfortable and at night the chairs can be turned back, and used instead of the Pullman sleeper without any extra charge. Any passenger holding a regular through ticket over the Southern Railway is entitled to ride in these cars.
